Capitulation of Metz 150 000 Prisoners Taken

BERLIN, Oct 27 —The King telegraphs to the Queen to-day This morning Bazaine and Metz capitulated One hundred and fifty thousand prisoners, including 20,000 sick and wounded of the garrison, laid down their arms One of the most important events of the war Providence be thanked (Signed) WILLIAM

Conditions of Bazaine's Surrender

LONDON Oct 27 – A special correspondent at Ostend telegraphs that the statement received from Mercy le Haut to the effect that upon the recognition of a formal declaration signed by the Empress that she was unwilling to sign a treaty involving a cession of French territory, or to be a party to any scheme involving the probable outbreak of civil war in France, Bazaine exclaimed that he would take the necessary responsibility himself This was Wednesday night Bazaine immediately sent a messenger through his lines to Prince Frederick Charles at Pont a Mousson The Prince came up during the night to Chatteau de Frescty, where, this forenoon, early, stipulations were signed for the surrender of Bazaine's forces, and the Fortress of Metz The surrender of Bazaine, it is stated, has been made upon a full understanding with the Prussian government, that the occupation of Metz and Strasbourg shall be accepted as an adequate basis for withdrawing the German army from France and concluding peace

The Germans have lost 10 000 during the siege by battle and disease. It is said that the commander of the garrison protested against the surrender, saying he was able to protract the defence into winter, but afterwards withdrew the protest London reports loudly denounce Bazaine as a traitor and that the Paris and Tours governments will repudiate any peace signed by him

A Tribune special says Gen Coffiner the commander of the garrison at Metz informed Bazaine that he could not give the army any more provisions and that he must shift for himself Bazaine ordered his men to stop firing on the Prussians, and allowed them to desert by the dozen All were captured by the Prussians but large groups were refused On the evening of the 24th Bazaine convinced Gen Coffiner that an outbreak which he proposed to make that night toward Gravelotte would be useless bloodshed and too large a price to pay for a few days resistance Bazaine sent a message to Prince Charles intimating that he was ready to capitulate A meeting was held with Prince Charles and General Changarnier on which the latter came away very much dissatisfied The points to be settled were fixed for another meeting next day Matters were so far advanced that the Twentieth Corps was immediately ordered to march to Paris Other troops were concentrated near Metz to prevent desertion en masse The army of Prince Frederick Charles consisted of 160 000 men

WAR MISCELLANY

A Tours dispatch of Oct 19th says The journals to day publish the details of the occupation of Orleans by the Prussian army The requisitions enforced were enormous, not only in money and provisions but all the guns and horses of the city were taken The soldiers who were quartered on the inhabitants fed greedily drank the best wines and wasted what they could not use

There is in Berlin a woman who has been made a widow by the casualties of war three times in eight years In 1864 her husband was killed at the storming of Duppel In 1866 her second husband was killed at Koeniggratz, and her third husband was killed at Rezonville on the 28th of August Another singular feature of the case is that all three of her husbands were carpenters

A correspondent furnishes the following which occurred recently at Versailles "Early in the evening Bismarck entered the hotel, dusty and hungry He was attended only by a few officers He ordered dinner in the salle a manger, which was always crowded with people Recognizing General Burnside at the table with Generals Sheridan, Forsyth and Forbes, he saluted them, and, joining them chatted pleasantly and jocularly, especially regarding Forbes visit to Paris Some one at this time called the Count's attention to a map of Germany hanging on the wall overhead 'Yes, Germany as it was,' was the significant reply"

A letter per balloon dated Paris October 15th says a reconnoisance is made every day to ascertain the position of the enemy The Prussians have thrown up a complete circle of entrenchments beyond the reach of the French forts In advance of these they have advance posts occupied by strong parties When the French make a sortie these parties fall back on the entrenched line protected by the artillery Thus far although the reconnoissances have been pushed in every direction no evidences of planting siege guns has been discovered The Germans are grouped in four large masses, one on each side of the city and the head quarters of each are connected by telegraph

CURRENT NOTES

A city missionary was asked the cause of his poverty "Principally" said he with a twinkle in his eye "because I have preached so much without notes"

It is related that soon after the war was decided one of Bismarck's friends said to him "But my dear Count only think of the fearful loss of life this war is going to superinduce" "Ah, my boy the world through eighteen hundred and seventy years has not yet discovered the art of making an omelet without breaking eggs"

It appears that the frightful disease called the rinderpest is spreading at a frightful rate all over the continent of Europe and that both the French and Prussians are suffering from it severely Pestilence treads as surely in the track of war as sorrow does in the track of sin, and this is only another illustration of an inexorable law A continuation of the disease however might seriously affect the war by putting an end altogether to the supply of provisions and the means of transportation

In American archæology the remains of the Aztec civilization have always occupied the most prominent place Additional evidences of the past greatness of these Indians has recently come to light in the vicinity of Santa Fe By order of General Army the special Indian Agent for that territory has found the Canon de Chelly which was explored for twenty miles In the hitherto unexplored parts were discovered wonderful ruins of cities which must have contained thousands of inhabitants Some of the ruins are reported to be at nine buildings seven and eight stories in height and showing a knowledge of architecture, manufactures and the use of edge tools on the part of their builders

Desperate Fight at Metz

BAZAINE WITH 50,000 TROOPS ATTEMPTS TO BREAK THE PRUSSIAN LINES BATTLE OF OCTOBER 7TH THE FIFTY EIGHTH AND FIFTY NINTH REGIMENTS OF LANDWEHR NEARLY ANNIHILATED THE FRENCH GAIN GREAT ADVANTAGE BUT ARE FINALLY DRIVEN BACK

LONDON, October 13 A New York Tribune letter dated Mezieres les Metz the 7th inst says To day's battle was the most important effort Bazaine has made since the Prussians have thrown their belt of men guns and earthworks around the fortress He had at least 50 000 men engaged About 1 o'clock the guns of the Prussian batteries by Semecourt began to give tongue Only a few French men lo thu, around Ladon Champs were observed One of the officers said There will be nothing serious to day There is too much mist in the valley Certainly it seemed as if he must be right When I was on the heights of Semecourt I could not see the villages in the valley below and the cathedral of Metz was utterly invisible But the roar of the guns grew louder and then came first a great puff of smoke and then another from the big guns by ... behind at Arcancourt Bazaine had hid his 50,000 with great art under cover of the dense fog He had made his dispositions with such adroitness that when it lifted a little past 1 o'clock they were already all but complete In the first instance he directed

A SHAM ASSAULT ON LADON CHAMPS

The Landwehr outposts held the place as if they were 10 000 instead of 100 men The attack, however, was only a diversion Suddenly the towns of Grandes and Petites of St Remy and Maxe were overwhelmed by a cataract of Frenchmen The Fifty ninth Landwehr in St Remy would not fall back as it should in common prudence but stood up in the street until the French having played upon it with artillery and rained Chassepot and mitrailleuse bullets and finally pushed back the shattered remnants into the chaussee by dint of sheer numbers The fusileer battalion of the Fifty-eighth occupied the Grand Etappes and it occupies Grand Etappes now but the occupation consists of the dead and wounded The battalion would not give ground and may be said to have been annihilated as it stood the men being with their backs to the wall and the faces to the foe The other battalions of the same regiment suffered terribly

HAD BAZAINE EAT ST ... ...

He had occupied the chain of villages athwart the valley and had got a few batteries of artillery out on their front to reply to the Prussian fire but the statu quo he neither wished to nor could retain The Prussian artillery throwing their projectiles from three sides of a parallelogram interfered with comfortable realization of the latter conception As regarded the former, it seemed clear that Bazaine would not have done what he had if he did not contemplate something more That something I have not the remotest doubt was a sortie to establish connection with Thionville His tactics were well conceived From Strenus and the two Etappes he kept the Prussian line engaged with musket and artillery He sent from Grand Etappes large swarms of Tirailleurs who fared extremely ill at the hands of the Landwehr but besides this he massed great bodies nearly 30 000 men along the banks of the Moselle under cover of the houses of Maxe and sent them forward to cut through the Prussian environment where it was weakest, close to the river

THE MOMENT WAS A CRITICAL ONE

The landwehr had all been sent forward against the villages with the exception of one brigade in reserve but the Tenth Army Corps had been crossing the pontoon bridge and massing between the river and Amenlang There General Von Vaeght was in command of operations in the rear and gave an order for several regiments to advance It was a sight never to be forgotten First came the Fusileers, extending at a rapid run into skirmishing order, and covering the whole place with their long thin lines Then the dense columns of companies of Grenadiers the band playing and colors unfurled an unwonted sight! But all the work was not left for infantry to do The artillery entered the village alone and concentrated their fire on the French columns advancing along the Moselle Bazaine is singularly weak in field artillery and the only replies were from the sullen sides of Mount St Julien, around the rampart of Fort St Eloy, but the mitrailleuse venomously sounded their angry whirr compelling the skirmishers to recoil as they crossed the line of fire and fearing the chasseurs in the front of the solid mass of which they were the forerunners The artillery and skirmishers were enough for the French

THE DENSE COLUMNS STAGGERED AND THEN BROKE

Through my glass I could see a continuous sauve qui peut into the village of Maxe but when they had once got stone and lime between them and the Prussians the fellows were obstinate and would go no further In vain the Prussian artillery fired on the village advancing closer and closer in alternate order of batteries with a precision and rapidity that could not have been exceeded on parade That obstinate battery in front of the Grand Etappes would not shut up and the French Tirailleurs still lined the chaussee in its front By this time it was nearly 4 o clock A staff officer galloped along the front with orders to take the village by storm This he told me was to consist of four brigades of Landwehr, with two brigades of the Tenth Army Corps supporting In a few minutes more the command came sounding along the line and the men sprung from their cover and went forward with their steady, quick step, so characteristic of Prussian marching The shells from the battery in front of Grand Etappes tore through the line mitrailleuse and Chassepot bullet poured against it like leaden hail but still the Landwehr, silent and stern went steadily to the front I never knew a more furious fire than that to which the center of the line was exposed General Van Brandenstein commanding, the Third Brigade of Landwehr, was shot down, and several of his staff wounded At length

THE INTRENCHMENTS WERE REACHED

Behind which was lying the shattered remains of the Fifty-eighth and Fifty ninth Landwehr The fraternization consisted in the cry of "Hurray Preusen" and then "Vorwarts! Immer Vorwarts!" and the line threw itself to the front on a run The gunners from the battery drove on, and had barely time to round the corner before the Landwehr were upon them The guns they left perforce In the villages the French made a last stand The Landwehr with less of the conventional warrior than the line are not so much inclined to give quarter as the professional soldiers With many a Frenchman, this afternoon, the first shock consisted of a bayonet thrust

THEY FOUGHT LIKE DEVILS

In the narrow ways of the village and used mitrailleuse with fair judgment and effect but then there came the steady, inexorable stride forward of the Landwehr with bayonets and the villages were cleared of all save the victors the dead and wounded The Prussian artillery was still firing in the moonlight from the heights above Olgy and St Julien were sluggishly throwing projectiles at the tablelands seemingly to shut up their fire All the ground in the rear of Charly toward the ... was filled with shells that had fallen and burst during the day A brisk musketry fire was still going on in front of Chieulles and Lorme so quiet when I rode through them in the morning The French ... down out of the Bois de Grumont made a feigned attack in considerable force up this valley All I could hear was that

IN THE FRONT WERE MANY DEAD AND WOUNDED

And I met a large ambulance train coming forward into the fire from out of the villages of St Remey and Pain, filled with men who had been killed during the day but all was now quiet there A little further on I came to the rear of Peragny and Noiseville where I met my friends of the Fourth who returned singing and triumphant The French from Metz and the slope in front of St Julien had thrown some battalions into Noilly then attempted to storm the Replie in front of Noiseville but they have been repulsed with considerable loss the Prussian artillery having them at Noilly into the woods

CURRENT NOTES

A German paper figures up the amount of damages which France ought to pay for the present war at the modest sum of about one thousand million dollars This may truly be called a rough estimate

The first payment to pensioners just made under the new law of Congress has demonstrated its expediency and justice The entire work is now done by the pensioners and the government agents without the aid of middle men and with no cost to the pensioner other than the simple fee for taking an affidavit

The United States Government in reply to a complaint from Prussia that munitions of war have been sold to France replies that the United will strictly observe the neutrality laws but that the sales of arms complained of have not been made by this Government as such to either the French or Prussian governments

[illegible] MORNING [illegible] 1870

The Legislature and its Record

The record of the late Legislative Assembly is now fully before the people. It is a record which [illegible] just censure in [illegible] attack [illegible] the party in power than was ever [illegible] by any other Legislature in this State. [illegible] bigoted [illegible] increasing partisanship never before assembled in Oregon, nor has there been in the history of all former Legislatures taken together so much trade, barter and general jobbing as have been witnessed during the few weeks of the recent session.

The majority began operations with a bargain to secure the election of Kelly to the Senate. They pledged him solemnly to certain railroad interests, and as soon as he was elected released him from his pledge and stated that the course they had taken was only a trick, a piece of dishonest practice which they had employed to serve their purpose and gain the object they had in view. After the Senator was elected and the majority had made an unblushing proclamation of the dishonest trick by which the election was accomplished, they set at work on the "regular business" of the session. Two classes of schemes were concocted. One of them contemplated the enactment of a series of measures wholly of a partisan nature in order if possible to save the party in the next election. The other consisted of a game whereby spoils could be secured, official fees increased and great and profitable jobs carried through for the benefit of "rings." A number of men made a "pool" and went in for everything they could grab or steal. The school lands of the State offered the largest and fattest job. Hence combinations were formed with those who would agree to assist in the general pillage for dividends of the spoil. The basis on which the job was put up was the pretense of building a canal and locks at the Falls of Wallamet river, and in order to carry that scheme the jobbers agreed that certain smaller schemes should be tacked on it. Various wagon road companies were to receive a share of the spoil, and those who would go into the ring were to divide the whole booty among themselves. The Portland Police Bill was also thrown in as one of the factors of the game. But it was found that some even of the Democratic members held back and would not sanction the general swindle. The Republicans were solid against it, and it came to a dead stop. Then to get it agoing again the Republican members from Benton county were thrown out. Still it could not succeed. Next the Republican members from Yamhill were deprived of their seats and men put in their places who would go the whole scheme. Fearing still that they would fail, the "ring" prepared to throw out the members from Clackamas. But finding after a trial of their strength, that they could get the principal job through the House as it stood, they allowed the Clackamas members to retain their seats. The great swindle was then perpetrated. No competition in constructing the locks was allowed. An offer to construct them for $75,000 less than the subsidy which it was proposed to grant to the "ring" was contemptuously rejected. All propositions to secure for the State better terms, were voted down, and the act passed as the "ring" dictated. The Portland Police Bill which was worked up in the same combination, went through also, but those who had succeeded in securing the greatest "grab" which had been contemplated, deserted some of their allies and left the smaller operators without their share of spoil. Divers "wagon roads" and other schemes for using up the remainder of the fund failed, and that remainder stands ready to be jobbed out by the next Legislature, if another Legislature like the recent one can ever be raked together. An inroad is now made on the school fund and the party which has had a taste of the plunder will fight two years hence for the rest of it. The Kelly-Miller clique will go into the contest in 1872 to seize what they have not this time been able to parcel out among themselves.

The Legislature itself has been more extravagant than any former one. Extra compensation has been allowed for all its servants and new places have been made for place-hunters. Perquisites have been created for State officers in defiance of the Constitution, and salaries will be two or three times larger than heretofore. The expenses of the recent session have not been made known, but beyond all question they will be much larger than those of any former one. These are things which the people may reflect on. If they do not stop the tide of corruption and jobbery now it will certainly overwhelm the State. The flood gates have been opened, and unless they are closed promptly everything within reach will be carried away by the swift turbid stream that has begun to undermine the foundations of good and honest government.

The Governor's Veto

There is one reason, and only one, why Gov. Grover has vetoed the bill to enable the city of Portland to contract for the construction of a railway to terminate within its limits. That reason is a partisan one. He has adopted the idea of Mr. Stout that the construction of railroads and the general advancement of the State through internal improvements and other progressive agencies are favorable to the Republican party and likely to increase its strength. Hence the Governor in vetoing this act intended to veto an increase of Republican strength in Portland and the west side counties, which he and his party fear will follow in the next election.

The Governor may urge that the act is in violation of the Constitution, but he will not convince many that he has any actual scruples on that score. Has he not approved the bill to enable speculators to seize the State school fund in direct violation of the unmistakable letter of the Constitution? Has he not approved sundry measures to create perquisites and increase salaries for officers in plain antagonism to the Constitution, both in letter and spirit? It is therefore not in order for him to object on the alleged ground of unconstitutionality to a measure which the best legal talent of the [illegible] without regard to party declares is constitutional.

Three fourths of the property holders of Portland, embracing men of all varieties of political opinion, were desirous that the measure should be approved. If those who were to pay the money were anxious to do a thing which would so clearly conduce to the advancement and growth of the city, why was it necessary for the Governor to interpose? There was no reason for it except a supposed party necessity. With the Governor and the few who control and direct him party considerations are paramount at all times and under all circumstances. [illegible] there [illegible] the State [illegible] years [illegible] stirring, enterprising and thoroughly wide-awake people to come, there probably would be a better chance for the Democratic party here to maintain its ascendancy; and this is what the Governor has in mind in trying to prevent the construction of the west side railroad. [illegible] Democratic [illegible].

If now the west side railroad fails the people who are interested may thank Gov. Grover and his very Democratic advisers for it. Had this subsidy been granted the construction of the road would have been guaranteed. It is conceded. The subsidy would have been secure because it was not to be paid till the road was actually constructed. The amount of the subsidy would have returned four fold to the people of Portland within a year after the first section of the road was built. The people of the several west side counties can contemplate the action of the Governor at their leisure; as they chew upon it they can make up their minds as to its probable effect upon their fortunes and prospects.

The reason why Schenck of Ohio contests for his seat in Congress is that the Copperhead Election Judges in Dayton refused to allow the inmates of the Soldiers' Home in that city to vote. There are [illegible] hundred of these men who were [illegible] in fighting the rebel Democracy during the war and the Democratic party now insists on disfranchising them. Schenck should have the seat.

It is evident that the repeating, ballot box stuffing elements in New York City are preparing to make a disturbance on election day. For the first time their rascality is likely to be interfered with, and the signs are that a riot is brewing. We hope the United States authorities will have plenty of artillery at hand and use it with effect in case any necessity arises therefor.

It is now a settled fact that the Honorable Joseph Smith went to Salem on Thursday for the purpose of vetoing the subsidy bill. He visited at once the mansion of the nominal Governor of the State, vetoed the bill and returned from Salem by the afternoon train. It is not yet stated how large a fee Mr. Smith took from Mr. Ladd for his services.

THE LATE ELECTIONS.

THE POPULAR ENDORSEMENT OF GEN. GRANT'S ADMINISTRATION

[From the New York Herald.]

From the general results of the late elections in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa and Nebraska these facts may be regarded as established: First—That the people of the United States, by a heavy majority, accept, endorse and approve the administration of Gen. Grant. Second—That the Republican party on the platform of this administration, are sure of a decisive majority in the popular branch of the next Congress, whereby, the Senate being secure, both Houses will be in accord with the President to the end of his present term. Third—That he is good for a second term against all opposition combinations and any opposing candidate. Fourth—That the Democrats have made no headway of any account since 1868. Fifth—That the new element of the colored vote is [illegible] with the Republicans. Sixth—That there is some danger that the Democracy will lose New York in November.

Such are the conclusions we draw from the general results of these late elections. The results, surprising to the Democrats, are better for the Republicans than their blundering managing politicians had expected. General Grant's administration, in short, proves to be stronger among the masses than the Republican managers and organs had estimated it. Since the time of General Jackson in the elections half way between one Presidential contest and another, the party out of power has, as a rule, been the gainer from the apathy and indifference of the party in power. It was generally supposed that such would be the results of these October elections half way between 1868 and 1872. The Republicans were troubled with doubts, divisions and apathy, the Democrats appeared to be united, active and confident. The popular mind was supposed to be so much engrossed with the stupendous and momentous events of the great European war as to be indifferent even to the claims of General Grant's administration in these elections, but the results have scattered all these fallacies to the winds.

First of all, the people are always ahead of the politicians on the practical issues of the day. The people understand better than the politicians can teach them the safe, sound and trusty policy of Grant's administration devoted to the retrenchment of expenditures, the saving of the revenue, the reduction of taxes and the payment of the national debt without disturbing by violent changes that wholesome equilibrium necessary to a steady advance in the prosperity of the general financial and business affairs of the country. Herein lies the great strength of the Republicans as developed in these elections, for the Democrats made their fight mainly against Grant's administration and his financial measures and policy. They professed to [illegible] upon this general issue to be hopeful of carrying the next House of Representatives, while the Republicans were not certain of saving it because of their local discords and general absence of activity or harmony upon their candidates in Pennsylvania and Ohio especially. In truth, however, the issue between the financial policy of Gen. Grant and the opposition policy of the Democrats, as an issue between something that is good and substantial for nothing but a change to financial disorders from rash experiments, was so plain that the people could not be humbugged by charges of aggressive extravagance, favoritism to bondholders and ruinous tax [illegible] tions against an administration the record of which is fixed in official facts and figures.

The new element of the colored vote has no doubt been a valuable acquisition to the Republicans in these elections and from these examples this new element may be counted on the same side in the approaching November elections. It is an interesting question how far this colored vote may affect the results in New York and New Jersey. From the results of Tuesday's city election in Newark, showing a heavy Republican gain, and from the fact that New Jersey [illegible] between [illegible] majority of from two to three thousand, and that the colored vote in the State is over five thousand, the probabilities are in favor of the opinion that the Democracy will lose the State in November. In New York the Republicans expect a great reduction of the Democratic majorities [illegible] under the new Congressional [illegible] which it seems from last Tuesday's example in Philadelphia the national authorities will enforce if necessary by a squad of United States marines or soldiers. But at all events the Democrats against a general turnout of the Republicans looking at these October results will have to do their best throughout the State to save our State Assembly in November, and even Hoffman's re-election from present indications ceases to be a foregone conclusion.

It may be considered as settled that the Republicans will have a [illegible] majority in the lower House of the next Congress, and having the Senate General Grant will have plain sailing to the end of his term. It may be considered as settled that he will be the Republican candidate for re-election in 1872 and will be re-elected. All doubts that may have existed on these questions have been dissipated in these October elections. What then becomes of the policy of the Democratic party and especially of the party in New York? The party at large we suppose will still continue drifting about without any fixed policy or principles except opposition to Grant's administration, waiting for [illegible] than [illegible] to turn up [illegible] the New York Democracy under the [illegible] thing better than this. [illegible] that Mr. Tweed [illegible] the Western elections in connection with his late Western excursion, is somewhat enlightened in reference to the chances of the New York Democratic favorite in 1872. At any rate, he and the other Tammany sachems will be wise in directing their labor here for less to the Democratic candidate in the next Presidency than to the interests of the party in New York, which can [illegible] studying the interests of the people of the city and the State. Indeed, in this view the main question for Tammany Hall [illegible] New York in November.

THE TERRITORIES

The Boise Chronicle says the time is rapidly coming in Idaho when everybody there must look out for his own preservation. It adds: "To look back on the page of Idaho's history for the last year and it cannot but make us all shudder. Five men in Boise county, three in Ada and one in Alturas hurried to their future homes without a moment's warning or a moment for prayer."

The Helena Gazette of the 14th says: "Dr. Ream of Blackfoot, we learn, left his home about one week ago with the intention of coming to Helena to purchase goods and had about him at the time quite a sum of money. He left Blackfoot city on foot for the purpose as he said of visiting a patient on Carpenter's bar and waiting at that point for the stage to overtake him, where he intended to get on board and come to this city, since which time no trace of him has been obtained, and his family are in great suspense, fearful that he has been waylaid and foully dealt with."

The Idaho World of the 29th says: "On yesterday about noon Edward Cahill, who was engaged in mining about a half mile above the old Illinois quartz mill and some six or seven miles from Idaho City, had some trouble with a company of Chinese in regard to water and was killed by them. We understand that there were three of the Chinamen together and that Mr. Cahill was alone. A teamster or miner who was camped a little distance from the place where the difficulty occurred heard several shots fired and, on repairing to the spot, found Cahill lying on the ground dead, having been shot through the neck. We have learned no further particulars in regard to the matter, but hear it stated that the Chinamen who committed the murder are the same ones who attacked and came near killing Mr. Donald Grant last year."

[illegible] MATTERS.—The [illegible] are the [illegible]

[illegible] the mooring was [illegible] at Astoria on the third [illegible] American [illegible] and who has just completed [illegible] only [illegible] published report of the late Oregon Conference [illegible]

The new edifice of St. David's Episcopal Church [illegible] It is [illegible] feet [illegible] timber [illegible] and will be ceiled and battened with cedar. It will cost $3,000. The [illegible] church will [illegible] to that of Trinity [illegible] and the building will seat 250 persons.

The [illegible] in America have just completed their centenary at [illegible] Mass. They have 1,000 churches and 680 ministers. The [illegible] raised $5,000 000 and there [illegible] $16,000. The [illegible] Murray Educational Fund [illegible] Mr. Greeley recommended the [illegible] of the Educational Fund after raising it to [illegible] of founding a book establishment [illegible] Concert. The exercises were [illegible] three days' camp meeting.

The re-dedication of Lee's Chapel near East Portland will take place to-day at 11 o'clock A. M. Sermon by Prof. W. H. Rogers.

Preaching to-morrow afternoon at the Hall [illegible] street church [illegible] o'clock.

The ladies of the A. M. E. Zion Church, appreciative of the valuable labors of their pastor, Rev. J. [illegible] desire to express toward him their hearty good will on Monday evening by tendering him a farewell reception at the church, Mr. [illegible] Lodge, who is about to leave for Conference which [illegible] California.

Rev. Father DeRoo will celebrate Mass and preach at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Oregon City, at the usual hour to-morrow.

Services will be held at the Catholic church [illegible] this city on Tuesday at 6, 8 and 10 o'clock A. M. and at 3 o'clock P. M. On [illegible] day Wednesday, a solemn Requiem Mass [illegible] at 8 o'clock A. M. and in the evening [illegible] o'clock the Stations of the Cross will be [illegible] Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament [illegible]

LAND DEPARTMENT MATTERS.—Col. [illegible] of Salem Land Agent of the Oregon and California Railroad Company, makes a statement of interest concerning persons who have valid pre-emption or homestead claims to any tract on an odd numbered section which should be listed over to the Company under the provisions of the grant of public lands in aid of constructing the Railroad. Mr. Moores says that such persons can purchase their lands from the Railroad Company at the Government price of $1.25 per acre in greenbacks and upon very favorable terms if they desire, by filing an abandonment of their claim in the U. S. Land Office, blanks for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company. Such purchases from the Company has these advantages over a purchase from the Government: The party can leave his land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers or agents' fees and expenses of witnesses to go to the Land Office to "prove up" his claim; he can get his title perfect in less time, and he can buy on credit at a low rate of interest.

Regarding the lands along the survey of the Northern Pacific Railroad, Capt. Adams, Register of the Vancouver Land Office, says: "Some persons are reporting that the Homesteads and Pre-emptions cannot be taken up for the present in consequence of the withdrawal of railroad lands. This is an error. Homesteads of 80 acres and Pre-emptions of 80 acres can be located [illegible] sections. Discharged soldiers who have served 90 days or longer during the Rebellion, can take 160 acres. All lands within the limits appropriated to N. P. R. R. are withdrawn from private entry. Lands outside of the Railroad limits are of course governed by the same rules as formerly. Railroad lands extend up the Columbia as far as Wallula and the river to Wahkiakum county."

BISHOP POTTER ON THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—At the annual session of the Protestant Episcopal Convention of the Diocese of New York, Bishop Potter on the subject of the use of the Bible in public schools, said those who depend on the reading of a few verses of the Bible in our schools each morning, to put morality in the minds of our growing population leaned on a broken reed. He favored a full religious education in connection with secular instruction. He also advised the organization of church schools, under the management of our clergy. They were the right kind to make our children good men, as well as good citizens. He spoke at great length on this matter, taking strong ground against our [illegible] system of public schools. On the question of the use of the Bible in public schools he was noncommittal. He said the fact of its partial use is the only evidence at all of Christianity in our schools.

LECTURE ON FRANCE AND PRUSSIA.—Mrs Mattie Field arrived by last evening's train from Salem too late to meet her engagement to lecture last evening The lecture - on France and Prussia - will be delivered this evening at Oro Fino Theater Mrs Field has been lecturing on various subjects for the past year in California with great success not only in San Francisco but in the interior of the State At one time she engaged in a set discussion of the woman suffrage question with the great California champion Mrs Laura DeForce Gordon, and others, on which occasion the papers of San Francisco gave extended reports of the meetings and very flattering notices of Mrs Field's part in the debate The notices justly give her credit for literary talent and most of them speak highly of her eloquence Unlike most of female speakers she talks without manuscript or notes At this particular juncture her lecture on France and Prussia will have an unusual interest, as it describes the national and individual characteristics of the two peoples, with an elucidation of the causes which brought them into the present conflict We have no doubt that all who attend to night will be richly repaid their time and expenditure

ACCOMMODATING.—The first impressions of a stranger arriving in Portland, are favorable to our hotels, each of which is represented at the landing or depot, with a coach or hack, to convey passengers and baggage to or from the house free of charge We believe that this is the only city in the country where this practice is fully in force At Salem one has to pay 50 cents passage to or from the hotels By walking one way the fare is thus reduced to 25 cents a trip

PROTECTION NO 4.—The ceremonial of taking possession of the new engine house on First street, built for Protection Company No 4, will occur at 2 o'clock P M In the evening from 6 to 8 o'clock, the President and other officers will be present to receive guests and at 9 o'clock dancing will commence, as a finale of this interesting occasion

LECTURE.—Benj Todd will speak in Oro Fino Theater to morrow evening at 7½ o'clock Subject—God and man synonymous, as far as duty is concerned

MESS BEEF.—Mr A H Johnson of the Pacific Market, is now employed in putting up a fine article of mess beef in iron hooped barrels on a contract from Victoria for the British navy

MASONIC HALL.—The wooden buildings on the site of the new Masonic Hall building, to be erected on the corner of Alder and Third streets, are being removed

DIED.—In this city October 28th, William Fisk, aged about 40 years The funeral will take place to day (Saturday) at 2½ o'clock P M from the Congregational Church Friends are invited to attend.

The Summer is past and Autumn is here,
The finest season throughout the whole year,
But the days grow cool, and all must prepare

The Shivering Season

The loss to the laboring classes of the United States caused by fever and ague has been estimated at upwards of two million dollars per annum While settlements are sometimes prostrated by the disease and it is regarded in some localities, as one of those visitations of Providence which cannot be avoided This is a mistake As certainly as any of the evils which are invited by neglect may be forestalled by precaution—so certainly may an attack of intermittent (or remittent) fever be prevented by invigorating the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in advance of the season at which the malady prevails Prevention it is needless to say is the wisest policy but it is consoling to know that where the disease has not been thus taken by the forelock and the paroxysms have actually commenced a complete cure may in all cases be rapidly effected by the use of this powerful vegetable tonic The reputation of the Bitters as a specific for dyspepsia liver complaint constipation and nervous debility has in some measure thrown into the shade its merits as a preventive and cure of other ailments but all who have ever taken it either as a protection against or a remedy for malarious fevers, will admit that it surpasses in efficiency all the so-called specifics (including quinine) usually prescribed for those maladies while it is at the same time entirely harmless and decidedly palatable

THE OREGON LEGISLATURE

Sixth Biennial Session

SENATE—Evening Session

SALEM, Wednesday Oct 26

The Senate met at [illegible] P M

Mr Strahan introduced S J R that the Supreme Court Reporter be required and authorized to have published as an appendix to the laws of the present session the decisions of that Court since the publication of Vol [illegible] of Oregon Reports

Mr [illegible] to investigate the affairs of the State [illegible]

Mr [illegible] and Mr Brown of Marion [illegible]

Mr Trevitt asked the consent of the Senate to offer S J [illegible] which declares that this Legislature will support the Government of the United States [illegible] but does not [illegible] the General Government one of limited powers and to express deep regret at the usurpations [illegible] of the Constitution by the so called Republican party holding power for the last nine years and pronounces it unworthy to [illegible] the affairs of a free and intelligent people The resolution [illegible] an attack upon the Republican party [illegible] that this State alone has the power [illegible] the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments were never properly ratified That they are an attempt to change our form of Government and should be [illegible] by all legitimate ways That the [illegible] laws [illegible] That there ought to be a revision of the [illegible] debt [illegible] bondholders [illegible] This is [illegible] report verbatim [illegible] the merits of the question

[illegible] passed by a strict party vote

Mr Brown of Marion said the committee of conference [illegible] had concluded to let it go and the Senate concluded to let it go also and discharged the committee

S B [illegible] allowing the Sergeant at Arms $[illegible] per day extra pay was [illegible] It takes twelve votes to pass [illegible] the Speaker declared that this passed by three votes [illegible]

Mr Bedwell from the committee to investigate the charges published in the Herald [illegible] J D Fay learned from the publishers of the Herald that [illegible] George F Lord [illegible] Messrs Semple and Patterson had requested to have a hearing and named forty witnesses they desired to have examined two of whom Messrs [illegible] and Cole they had examined and they regretted that pressure of legislative business rendered a full investigation impracticable

Mr Cornelius said he did not feel entirely satisfied with the action of the committee Neither did he have any particular cause of complaint They undertook to examine all the witnesses themselves and did examine some of them At no time [illegible] asked [illegible] to make a report [illegible] that report [illegible] forty witnesses examined [illegible] The fault he had found was that no plan had been adopted and followed out in conducting the investigation He thought Mr Fay was aimed at in the charge and that the charge had not been sustained Either Mr Fay was guilty or the persons making the charge had done what was an insult to the Senate and should be looked into and properly punished

Mr Mosher said it was true that mistakes had been made and the report had not done justice to either of the parties and while he believed Mr Fay exonerated by the facts still as they could not find time to examine the witnesses offered by the other side they could not consider themselves entitled to condemn them without that hearing

Mr Baldwin also explained the difficulties that prevented a fuller examination The examination of Mr [illegible] of the paper [illegible] for the statements made They had agreed on a report as stated by Mr Cornelius The offer to produce forty witnesses had put another aspect on the matter Semple and Patterson wanted to appear in person and examine and cross examine the witnesses named and as the committee as they could not examine the witnesses named could not make a complete and satisfactory report.

Mr Fay thought charges made under these circumstances affected the honor of the Senate he having been unanimously elected President of this body He was charged with having acted with treachery in the election of the United States Senator The charge was made at the commencement of the session and in the organ of a party of which he was a member He complained that the report was not what was due to him as a man and a Senator If the charge was true he was not fit to be a Senator If not true he should be exonerated He appealed to the Senate if common rumor, the slander and the lie should stab him in this manner without his being granted a proper investigation He felt himself exonerated and thought the report should [illegible] him so He was thus treated because he came here in the interest of his section and determined to do what he could to secure it railroad facilities. The editorials of that paper were the heaviest load he had to pack during that political campaign The Senator proceeded at length to defend himself against the attacks of the Herald He said the first assault on his reputation came from the organ of the Democratic party the paper of the State Printer who would not have been State Printer but for the votes he held and cast in the Albany Convention He denounced the charge as cowardly and mean and said the author of it had not even the manliness to say, when examined, that he meant him He had given that committee the name of Mr Holladay Mr Mitchell and others and they had not thought it worth while to examine them as there was so little to substantiate the charges

Mr Brown of Baker one of the committee read a communication received from Messrs Patterson and Semple relating to the matter dated October 4th proposing to meet and examine the witnesses before the committee and asking to be allowed witnesses in their own behalf Mr Brown also referred to the detentions and difficulties in the way of a fuller investigation He considered Mr Fay exonerated from the charges

Mr Cornelius offered a resolution acquitting Mr Fay and to bring T Patterson and Eugene Semple before the Senate and publicly reprimand them

Mr Fay was satisfied with the first clause of the resolution and did not want any one reprimanded The action of the Senate was reprimand enough

Mr Hendershott offered a substitute which was accepted as follows:

Resolved That the charges preferred against James D Fay, a Senator on this floor through the columns of the Oregon Herald, were in our opinion, base and slanderous, and beneath the dignity of any respectable newspaper

A call of the House was ordered

Mr. Burch thought the words of the resolution too strong, and after some debate the resolution was withdrawn.

Mr. Fay expressed himself as pleased with this action

Mr. Cochran thought the action of the Senate somewhat strange. The committee evidently thought nobody was much hurt. He acknowledged the charges were rough, but they were such as were common among newspapers.

The question recurred on the resolution of Mr Cornelius as amended which passed—yeas 16 nays [illegible]

On motion of Mr Burch a committee was appointed to wait upon the Governor and inform him that the two Houses are ready to adjourn

Messrs Burch and Cochran were named as such committee.

H B 69, relating to contagious diseases among domestic animals was read and indefinitely postponed

The President suggested that as business grew slack it would be a good time to pass the bill of the Senator from Union to have a dead thing on Chinamen

This bill however, did not pass

S R 29 tendering the thanks of the Senate to Hon J D Fay and to other officers of the Senate was offered by Mr Hendershott The yeas and nays were called for

The resolution was adopted, only Mr Cochran voting no

Mr Hendershott moved to appoint three from the lobby to ascertain if the small pox was really in town

The President said he would entertain the motion with pleasure, only he had found it impossible to get any control over the lobby so far in the session and did not like to try so late in the day after failing so often to get them to preserve order before

The Governor sent word that he had no message to make He should examine the numerous bills at his leisure and file them with the Secretary of State He congratulated the Senate on its useful and harmonious action, and that was all

The President called to the Senator from Lane to take off his hat while within the bar

Messages passed to and fro announcing the signing of numerous bills Officers were sent around as enrolled and hurried about to get the signatures of the officers Things went very lively to one but clerks officers and reporters keeping run of affairs

Ten o clock came but the President said it was always ten until it was eleven

Mr Fay made some very felicitous remarks and said if by inadvertence he had wounded the feelings of any he tendered an apology He [illegible] kindest regards [illegible] Providence [illegible] he should meet [illegible] the pleasant hours of the present session and [illegible] his faults and many errors [illegible] the Senate adjourned

HOUSE—Evening Session

SALEM Wednesday Oct 26

The House was called to order at 7 o'clock P M

SCHOOL BILL LOST

Mr Alexander from the Committee of Conference on House Bill No 56—An Act to establish a uniform system of [illegible] schools [illegible] reported that the committee had been unable to agree

Mr Shaw moved to adopt the report and discharge the committee

Mr Hare—I am very sorry that this bill is to be defeated but there is no alternative The bill that this House passed provides for the election of a Superintendent with $2 000 a year as salary and prescribes his duties The Senate passed the bill after striking out all of the [illegible] and the salary [illegible] created an office [illegible] If the House now adopt this report it will thereby save the State $2 000 a year

The motion prevailed

[illegible]

The Speaker called attention to the fact that the House had not yet elected [illegible] to investigate the affairs of the State Printing and other State officers

The roll was called and Mr Amis was declared elected, having received 15 votes Cranston 13 and Waldron 4

A resolution from the Senate was announced authorizing the Supreme Court reporter to publish the reports since the last volume of reports It failed to receive a majority of the whole House [illegible]

Mr Helm was called to the chair

A message from the Senate announced the adoption of a series of resolutions [illegible] amendments [illegible] of the United States [illegible] national debt [illegible]

Mr Amis moved to adopt the resolutions

Mr Dorris—I move that the volume just read be bound in calf and presented to [illegible] with the compliments of the House Laughter

The Speaker—That motion is out of order and the Chair cannot entertain it for a moment

Mr Hayden—There is enough in that resolution to talk on though there is not time [illegible] the House will adopt it

Mr Paquet—I would ask if the resolutions are subject to amendment

The Speaker—No sir they are not

Mr Hare Does the chair make that extraordinary ruling

The Speaker—The chair so rules [Laughter]

Mr Apperson—While there are many sentiments in these resolutions that I would vote for yet as the chair rules that no amendments can be made and as there are some things in them which I do not like I shall [illegible] There is a part [illegible] and that is that [illegible]

The Clerk proceeded with the call of the [illegible]

Mr Dorris [illegible] I vote aye for that part of the resolution which is good and [illegible] for that part which is not

Mr Hayden [illegible] vote [illegible]

The Speaker [illegible]

Mr D [illegible]

Mr Starkweather [illegible]

The Speaker—They [illegible] How does the gentleman vote

Mr [illegible] I have given my vote [illegible] heard of [illegible] ruled not in its spirit [illegible]

Mr Hayden I regret to say that [illegible] the action of the [illegible] will read the rule

Mr Dorris rose and stepped without the bar of the House

Mr Amis [illegible] call of the House

Mr Whitaker I would suggest that a call of the House [illegible] pending [illegible]

The Speaker I have the point [illegible] correctly taken The Clerk [illegible] with reference to this ruling that [illegible] privilege of members to appeal at any time If members desire to appeal it is all right Call the roll

Mr Hayden read rule 22, requiring all members within the bar of the House to vote unless excused He said the member from Lane was here and he insulted the House by attempting to give two votes and then walking outside the bar He asked that the Sergeant at Arms should be instructed to bring him to his seat and force him to vote

The Speaker—The Chair thinks that the rule ought to be enforced

Mr Hare—I had hoped that in the expiring moments of the House nothing would take place of this nature [illegible] the gentleman is returning to his seat?

Mr Dorris—It has been insisted upon that I should vote I wish to say that I had no design to insult the House or any member of it Since I have been here my intercourse with members has been pleasant so far as I know I have said nothing purposely to injure the feelings of members Now I am called upon to vote upon resolutions which contain some good sentiments and [illegible] I have never objected to excusing any member from voting and I will now ask the House to extend to me the same courtesy

Mr Apperson—I move that the gentleman may be excused

Mr Lockhart—The motion cannot be entertained after the voting begins

Mr Dorris [illegible] was only voluntarily in attendance upon the sessions of the House, and since the 40 days of the session had expired he could not be compelled to remain. If not excused he should walk out

Mr Drain—[illegible] and I think the gentleman should [illegible] [Laughter]

Mr Hayden I wish to say this that I will vote to excuse no member who walks outside the bar I demand that the gentleman vote If he does not within two minutes I will introduce a resolution to censure him.

The Speaker was of the opinion that the House had power to enforce the rules notwithstanding the 40 days had expired

Mr Lockhart read the rules prohibiting motions to excuse members after the voting begins

The Speaker—The point of order is well taken Go on with the roll

Mr Regan This being introduced into a Democratic legislative body is Democratic I suppose I do not wish to get myself into any trouble as my friend here did [illegible] Democratic rule here—gag law rule Now, sir, I say no

Mr Whiteaker—I have been absent I came in but a [illegible] and cannot vote intelligently upon this matter but if gentlemen insist that I shall vote I will [illegible] excused [illegible]

Mr Amis I think the gentleman should not [illegible] his vote He will ever regret it [Laughter

Several were excused

The vote resulted as follows

Ayes—Messrs Alexander Amis Cadwell [illegible] Galloway Carlisle [illegible] McLain McCoy [illegible] Porter Shook Townsend Wells, Waldron and Mr Speaker—20

Nays—Messrs Dunbar [illegible], Apperson Carson, Harrison Holman, Hyde, Lockhart, Mills Paquet, Quimby and Starkweather—12

Mr Hayden by unanimous consent offered the following

Resolved That Mr Dorris member from Lane county merits the severest censure of this House for his contempt of the rules of the House and for refusing to vote while within the bar of the House

Mr Hayden—I move the adoption of the resolution.

Mr Lockhart—I am opposed to that resolution from the fact that it is not parliamentary language to refer to a man I would suggest to the gentleman to correct it

Mr Hayden—What do you want in it? [Laughter]

Mr Hare was sorry the resolution had been offered The House had not before been marred by such scenes. He regarded the resolution of a merely political nature and such that a member should not be required to vote upon especially as they were not allowed to be voted upon separately Under such circumstances he was opposed to passing censure upon any one for not voting

Mr Hayden urged that it was necessary to maintain the dignity of the House

Mr Whalley thought a member could not be compelled to vote upon an abstract question of law politics or religion. [illegible] was the nature of the resolutions which had created the trouble

Mr Whiteaker—I am very sorry indeed to see the turn things have taken this evening Having taken no part in this matter I have [illegible] and [illegible] with the transaction [illegible] resolutions [illegible] political [illegible] having no power to bind any one—being no law They are not of the nature of legislation They are about such as a political convention might entertain, and probably of just about as much consequence I think that on to-morrow we will regret this very much I am frank to say that had I felt as my colleague appears to feel I would not have voted differently, and I say that this House could not have made me vote I say that to this House You have no power to make me vote upon a question of that kind Had I heard the resolution I probably would have voted with great pleasure, but had I felt as my colleague I would not have voted I know this House does not intend to pass this resolution and I move to indefinitely postpone it

Mr Hayden could not see that Mr Whiteaker's opinion could affect the rules and he urged the necessity of adopting the resolution

Mr O'Regan—I move that the gentleman have permission to withdraw the resolution [Laughter

Mr Amis thought Mr Dorris had been hasty merely and had not intended to be insulting

The resolution was indefinitely postponed

GRANT COUNTY—CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

S B 55 an act for the relief of Grant county—was passed

Mr Hayden resumed the chair

Mr Alexander called up a series of amendments proposed by Mr Baldwin some time ago and which passed the Senate.

The first Section was read and failed of adoption—20 ayes to 14 noes—24 being necessary

Mr Whiteaker suggested that it would be impossible to pass the resolution because of the few members present

Mr Alexander moved to lay the resolutions upon the table and the motion prevailed

LIGHTHOUSES—SCHOOL TAX

H B — an act to give the consent of the State to the construction of lighthouses by the United States was passed

S B 10 an act to increase the school tax was lost

COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON THE GOVERNOR

A message from the Senate announced the appointment of a committee to wait upon the Governor and inform him that the House is about to adjourn The resolution was concurred in and Messrs Drain Alexander and Mills were appointed

At 9 30 A M the House took a recess until 9 50 P M

THANKS TO [illegible]

Mr Starkweather offered a resolution tendering the thanks of the House to the Speaker and other officers of the House for the able and impartial manner in which they have discharged their duties during the session

The resolution was adopted

Mr Drain from the Committee to wait upon the Governor reported as having performed that duty and that the Governor had no further communication to make except to say that the large number of bills that had accumulated will receive immediate attention [illegible] congratulated [illegible] of the Legislature upon the [illegible]

Mr Apperson offered a resolution of thanks to members [illegible] for their gentlemanly deportment and [illegible] The resolution was adopted

The Impending Crisis in New York

[illegible]

The city of New York [illegible] on the approaching election day. All the elements for such a riot exist in full force and are now being prepared by their leaders for this [illegible]. Unquestionably the business will be [illegible] unless President Grant himself makes an adequate manifestation of force by placing troops on Governor's Island ready to preserve order.

The facts which indicate the coming riot are these: For fifteen years New York has not had an honest or peaceful election, or one in which Tammany ruffianism did not run the polls with undisputed sway.

Generally Republicans [illegible] allowed to vote by standing for hours in ranks of repeaters and alien voters, though there would be many cases in which they had not even this privilege. But during all this period no systematic or effective attempt has been made to prevent repeaters from voting as many times at one polling place and in as many polling places as they chose to visit. It is conclusively shown by the returns of population that this repeating, together with the other frauds incidents to the election, have polled from twenty to thirty thousand illegal votes every year, and that these votes at the last election placed the present Governor Hoffman in office and enabled him, together with Fisk, Gould, Tweed and Barnard, to steal the Erie Railway from its stockholders. The whole legal vote is Democratic and every Democrat knows it to be so. The Governor, who has control of the State militia, and who is fond of ventilating his State's rights notions of the independence of the State from all interference by the National Government, and the Mayor, Oakey Hall, who controls the New York police, are both determined that the force of the police and of the state militia, if necessary, shall be used to sustain this fraudulent voting.

These are very formidable forces to meet, and it behooves the government at Washington to consider that they are as determined in their way to carry their smaller points as Davis and Lee Floyd and Toombs were to carry theirs.

Congress has passed a statute aimed specially to break up and abolish this fraudulent voting in New York. Its passage grew out of the investigation by a Congressional committee into the frauds in the election of Congressmen which attended and accompanied the election of Hoffman. All the power of Tammany, from its Governor and courts to its police and plug uglies, is concentrated in one determined effort to smash this law so effectually as to frighten the government from any effort to enforce it. So far as the law-abiding forces in New York city are concerned, they are utterly inadequate to enforce the law of Congress.

Where the United States Marshal could appoint one deputy, Mayor Hall and the Sheriff could appoint fifty. We undertake to say that there will be a mortifying and bloody fiasco in the attempt to enforce this law, or a pusillanimous fizzle, if the Marshal and such deputies as he shall appoint shall be expected to enforce it. It needs and deserves the direct energies and military forces at the disposal of the government. These and no less will insure a peaceful vote and an honest one. Of course, there will be the usual howl that this is 'satrapy,' 'Federal insolence,' 'military despotism,' an 'attempt to intimidate the honest Democrats of New York City,' and the pretended rejoicing over the supposed converts such a course will make to the Democratic party. We estimate all this hypocritical bosh at the same weight the magistrate attaches to the thief's jargon when he orders him ten years in the Penitentiary. The rule of the Democratic party in New York city is a confederated villany. It is the great national and international nuisance. Now that slavery is abolished, it is the chief national crime and the only fact in our condition that brings republican institutions into contempt. It is the duty of President Grant to suppress its crimes, to the extent that existing laws enable him to do so, with the strong hand, as no longer tolerable by the nation. The opportunity to do so will occur at the approaching election. Congress has passed a law authorizing the Marshal and his deputies to arrest whomsoever they see voting illegally, or committing any breach of the peace. Tammany Hall and its backers threaten to arrest the Marshal and his deputies if they attempt to enforce this law. They deny its constitutionality of course, and that under the circumstances, means that if the force which attempts to sustain the law is one which they can whip, they intend to fight. Let the President himself see the law enforced by the whole power of the government, or that adequate preparations are made to that end, and there will be neither a shameful failure, nor a bloody fiasco, but an honest, peaceful and pure election, in which Democrats will as a rule, vote once, the first of the kind that has occurred in that bailiwick for many years.

Pensions.

WASHINGTON, Oct 13.—The annual accounts of the Pension Office for the fiscal year ending June 30 have been completed. The expenditures of the previous year were $28,422,000. For the last year, although 25,000 pensioners were added to the rolls, with arrears in each case of from $500 to $1,500, the expenditures were $642,000 less, or $27,780,000. The estimates for the year were $31,000,000. The causes which have led to this are minors attaining 16 years of age, special surgical examinations, and the reductions resulting from the energetic investigation of frauds, which have developed the fact, among many others of importance, that a large number of pensions have been drawn where the real pensioners have been dead for a number of years. The good results of the active measures taken against all claim agents who have been engaged in irregular practice is shown by the fact that where eight clerks were required a few months since in the special service division, two would now be able to do the work. It is believed at the Pension Office, contrary to the general expectation, that the amount ordered to meet the demand of the pension rolls will in future decrease and that the maximum of the expenditures was reached a year ago.

NOTICE.

HOLDERS OF TICKETS to the GIFT CONCERT in aid of the Mercantile Library Association are hereby notified that the Concert is postponed until

Unexpected interferences have operated to make this delay necessary to accomplish the result of freeing the Library from debt without recourse to other privileges granted by act of the Legislature, passed February 19 1870.

This is positively the only postponement which will be made. The Concert will take place on the day above named commencing at nine o'clock A M, and to continue until all the gifts have been awarded.

The funds already in bank are considerably more than sufficient to insure the successful completion of the contract with the public.

The sale of tickets will positively close on Friday the 28th day of October 1870.

All tickets remaining unsold at that time will be withdrawn from sale and cancelled. They will be advertised by their numbers on the 29th day of October 1870 in one or more of the daily papers of this city. Any diminution thus made in the number of tickets to be drawn will not affect the number or amount of gifts. They will be as heretofore advertised, to-wit 628 gifts amounting in all to $500 000 gold.

Ticket holders residing out of San Francisco will receive duly accredited lists of the awards of Gifts which will also be published in the leading San Francisco daily papers on the 1st November 1870.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs fully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies; see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his special study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use. Ten Dollars sent in registered letter or through Wells Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus false certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat disease that he proposes to cure.

Address DR J F GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial (Private Entrance on Commercial) San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

SECURE A HOME!!

THE RIVERSIDE

HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION!

OF

EAST PORTLAND, OREGON,

IS NOW PREPARED TO RECEIVE SUBSCRIPTIONS to their Stock.

Application for ONE HUNDRED SHARES was made before the books were opened and a large number of Shares have been taken.

The following extracts from the Oregonian and Bulletin will convey a good idea of the plan and workings of the Association, the location of the land, etc., etc.

RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

This association, of whose organization we gave an account a few days since, is now ready for the purpose of shares. As it is with one exception the Portland Homestead Association, the first organization of that kind in this city, it may be well enough to state what are its purposes, and the manner in which it is proposed to accomplish its operations. The purposes of these [illegible] Associations are not at all speculative in the ordinary sense of the word. They are to [illegible] for the profits of their investment upon the natural advance in the value of their lands, consequent upon the co-operation of many individuals—shareholders—and the advance in value of all surrounding lands by reason of the approach of population and demand for room outside of, but still near, the city. The Riverside Homestead Association has a fraction over one hundred and twenty acres of land situated just south of Brooklyn, on the east side of the river, the northeast boundary line being about one mile from the ferry landing at East Portland. The tract lies in one strip along the Willamette river, half a mile in length, and another strip along the Oregon & California railroad, half a mile in length, the two strips being connected near the middle by two rows of blocks (with a street between them), the whole forming a figure not unlike the letter H. It is divided into 74 blocks, 200 feet square (with streets running at right angles) and 80 fractional lots along the river front. The shares number 600, worth $60 per share. It will be seen that a share thus represents nearly a lot with an undivided interest in the 80 fractional lots. The fractional shares are to be sold off at the proper time for the benefit of the Association, [illegible] coming in for the [illegible] in proportion to the number of shares held. When all shares are taken and the Association shall determine to do it, the choice of lots and blocks will be put up at auction to the highest bidder, the proceeds of such sales, after [illegible] the original price of shares or lots, to be divided equally among the whole number of shares. Thus, if a person wants a particular lot or block and is willing to pay $100 or $500 for it, more or less as the case may be, he pays it, and takes the lot or block as his individual [illegible], the premium being divided among the whole number of shareholders. It will be seen that everything is co-operative, and all interests mutual. No man can make a dollar out of it without also making a dollar for every other shareholder. There is no chance for any loss on the property, by some chance, shrinking so far below the first actual cost, [illegible] liable to happen in the case of this [illegible] tract of land must be judged by each for himself, but considering the steady and rapid advance on real estate in this city and neighborhood, and at East Portland, and vicinity, in the last year or two, [illegible] values to go back.

In the Riverside [illegible] all [illegible] seem to have been [illegible] to guard against monopolies of shares. No person is allowed to buy more than the [illegible] of three blocks, or twenty-four lots, and [illegible] determining the operations of the [illegible] restricted in the same manner. The buyer of shares may pay down $60 per share, [illegible] exempt them from all [illegible] or they may pay $15 quarterly, with [illegible] share, payable with the first [illegible] liable in this latter [illegible] other) [illegible] pay about [illegible] as above, [illegible] and the proportion of all the [illegible] all are [illegible] any pay [illegible] of $25 per month [illegible] expense [illegible].

That part of the tract lying along the river is a high plateau, [illegible] above the waters. [illegible] row of blocks [illegible] Portland, and the river [illegible] streets. That part of the tract lying along the railroad [illegible] soil and adapted to gardening, [illegible] tiful little stream of pure water runs through almost the entire length of this wing of the tract, affording the means of irrigating, and power sufficient to supply pure water to every part of the whole tract. There is not a waste lot or foot of land in the entire tract. Under all these advantages, it would seem impossible that there should be any chance of loss to anybody. Within a year each shareholder, if he [illegible], will get a perfect title to as many lots as his shares may represent, or he may continue his [illegible] undivided, with the Association while the [illegible] may exist.—Oregonian.

THE RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

We have been led to make this [illegible] fact that the subject of [illegible] on the outskirts of this city and East Portland [illegible] discussed here among [illegible] Riverside" just south of East Portland [illegible] been established. The site selected is a tract of land lying a little over a mile south of the ferry, [illegible] shaped like the letter H, one side of which, a half mile in length, borders on the river.

From this portion of the homestead, which is elevated but a trifle above the other prong of the H, but is at least forty or fifty feet above the river, can be had a most extensive view of Portland, East Portland, the city and the Willamette river for several miles. The land is fertile and is partly covered with light fir timber. A tract of land just wide enough for two rows of blocks, with an avenue between them, connects the two prongs of the H (which has already been divided) with the east. This last tract of land is in a [illegible] valley which is now under a high state of cultivation. Through its whole length runs a brook, the water of which is as clear as crystal. With a hydraulic ram the Association proposes to have water conveyed through pipes to every portion of the [illegible].—Daily Bulletin.
